INTERVIEW OF REAL STARTUPS

In the last segment of my research, I have managed and made it possible to interview the leading person of one of the well established startups.

In the field of research, interviews could be a strong weapon that will portray all the minutes of the research work. In the same context, we have Mohit Sahu aka Monendra Sahu, who is an independent IT security researcher presently working in the field of information security and IOT development.

He is Co-Founder and Director at BlueBanyan Technologies Pvt. Ltd. India, where he leads the execution of various projects related to IOT, Cyber Security.

He has 6 years of experience in field of information security(web app security) and 2+ years in research and design of various layers of the IoT and its predecessor technologies such as wireless sensor networks, and machine-to-machine (M2M) communication using Open Source technology. His domains of expertise are IoT, Semantic Web, robotics, and web application penetration testing, android application security.
